

Prachanda's soother to Nepal Army after Hisila's thump

The Unified Maoists Party Chairman Pushpa Kamal Dahal has warned that if the new constitution was not drafted on time may prompt his party to re-declare revolt.

"Local and foreign reactionaries have been trying to derail the peace process and hinder the constitution drafting process", Prachanda claimed addressing a mass meet in Kathmandu, March 8, 2010.

The mass meet was organized by All Nepal Women Association- Revolutionary- the Unified Maoists' Party affiliate.

The mass meet was organized to celebrate the 100th anniversary of International Women's Day.

Dahal added, "Unless Civilian Supremacy is restored, institutionalizing the Women's Right will remain a far cry."

"The extreme rightists have been spreading unnecessary rumors that the Maoists' Party has been trying to capture state through a revolt, they in saying so are trying to derail the peace process and halt the constitution drafting process", he continued.

Prachanda said in the course of his speech that he was very much hopeful that the Nepal Army will accept the revolutionary changes taking place in the country.

"I am hopeful that the Nepal Army will always stand in favor of National Independence and Civilian Supremacy," also said Dahal.

Dahal's praise for Nepal Army has come just two days after a senior Unified Maoists' Party leader, Mrs. Hisila Yami had termed the institution of Nepal Army as the prime enemy of the Maoists' Party.
