

“To carry out the struggle against revisionism and to aid the process of developing and struggling for a correct general line in the international communist movement, the undersigned Parties and organisations are launching an international journal. This journal can and will be a crucial weapon which can help unite, ideologically, politically and organisationally, the genuine Marxist-Leninists throughout the world.”

“A World to Win” is open by agreement to the contributions of organisations signing the Joint Communiqué. In addition, Marxist-Leninist forces throughout the world are strongly encouraged to contribute and should send their contributions to the following address:
