Homage to G.N. Saibaba!

The news of the death of G. N. Saibaba, one of the famous Marxist intellectuals, writers, poets, and human rights personalities of India's left-wing movement at the age of 57, has worried us. Saibaba, who was also a professor at Delhi University in India, was imprisoned by the Indian government on the charge of "association with the Communist Party of India (Maoist)" which has been conducting a continuous people's war there for a long time. A Sessions Court of India sentenced him to life imprisonment, but the High Court overturned the decision. Saibaba, who was born in Amalampuram, Andhra Pradesh, underwent stone surgery while in prison. However, he was admitted to the Nizam Medical College Hospital in Hyderabad as he did not recover after the surgery. On the night of October 12, Saibaba passed away. His death has caused serious damage to the leftist movement in India. Our party pays deep tributes to Comrade G. N. Saibaba.
